LARGELY MAKE BELIEVE

England, our legal and lingual progenitor, is romanticising over the ashes of Empire, which counts "bloody" little good news in the descent of the Pound Sterling and resignation of a prime minister.

There is some pride in England's flourishing new National Theatre. But the man who perhaps was to succeed Sir Laurence Oliver as the greatest English-language actor is playing the lead in the New York production of "Equus." We speak of Richard Burton, Welsh born, but British to America.

Burton's career is back to the legitimate stage after a dozen years of cinema millions for mediocre roles, compared to the man's capacity for Shakespearean theatre. He and Elizabeth Taylor once again have split. He once was considered a worthy successor to the Oliver theatrical peerage.

He is among the exports of talent which prove to be Britain's only recent success in international waters. The Beatles started a revolution in modern pop music and dozens of British singers and rock bands have baled dollars.

Richard Harris, actually Irish, has excelled in American theatre and cinema in recent years. But his talent was never measured against the likes of Oliver or Ralph Richardson in British theatre.

Which is what we expect from the romantics in acting.

"There will always be an England" became a cliche when Europe became the world's 20th century battleground just across the English Channel.

The informality of today's Western World has chilled interest in "stiff upper lips" and British bearing. But admiration for Britain's civilized banter and dedication to her culture abide.

It abides in the language of American and English theatre, thanks to Shakespeare and Britain's desperate desire to excel at something.

Nobody does Shakespeare better than British subjects and the Bard inspires contemporary playwrites to sustain dramatic triumph in the English language.

Nothing is more stirring on stage than a Burton rumbling and rolling the language of Britains across the footlights.

It is reassurance that not everything is slipping in London, that the ceremonial crown is not totally askew, that socialism may not yet have browned everything out in Parliament, that an Island Empire has found a braking point, even though it is largely make believe.

SURPRISE AND JOY are expressed by Elizabeth Anne Shelander as she learns she is an Alcoa Foundation scholarship winner. The Yoe senior will receive one of the two $4,000 college scholarships offered annually to sons and daughters of Alcoa employees.

County OKs Audit Plan

Milam County Commissioners meeting in special called session Tuesday morning officially adopted plans for a county audit to be undertaken by Harris, Havens & Co., a CPA firm of Sinton.

Ray Harris, partner in the firm, had looked over some of the county financial records on March 15 and 16 and met with commissioners on the 16th to offer his proposals for the audit, along with cost. At Tuesday's meeting a letter from Harris was read by County Judge O. B. Harden detailing the audit proposal which was accepted by the commissioners.

Cost of the audit will be $16,250, which includes $15,000 for the actual audit and $1,250 for expenses for the firm.

Harris' letter stated that some of the offices will be "readily auditable" while others, including sheriff's department and district clerk, may take more time.

He said in cases where there are no pre-numbered receipts and no "audit trail to follow" he may have to qualify the report for that particular office.

Harris stated that if the audit runs into something which will mean more expense he will first seek commissioners approval before doing the work.

A federal revenue sharing audit is not included, Harris noted, and said the revenue sharing funds will be included in the same audit as the other county funds.

Information in the letter followed the same lines as a report Harris outlined to the court at its March 16 meeting, noting that pre-numbered receipts are not use in the sheriff's office, district clerk's office, and justice of the peace's office. Harris expected audit without the numbered receipts may be more difficult that in some of the other county offices.

It is expected that use of such prenumbered receipts will be among recommendations by the firm when the audit is complete.

Harris said the firm would start on the audit on April 19, with field work taking about a week, to be followed by work at the firm's offices to complete the report.

Approval of the county audit by commissioners grew out of a request for such an audit by the Milam County Farm Bureau, which plans to make recommendations to commissioners on improving rural law enforcement.

Only other business transacted by commissioners Tuesday was to approve final payment of $2,600 to Cloud Construction of Temple owed on the new tax office.

Yoe Senior Wins Alcoa Scholarship

Two seniors from Rockdale High School and Cameron Yoe High School have been named recipients of the $4,000 Alcoa Foundation college scholarships awarded annually to sons and daughters of employees at Aluminum Company of America's Rockdale Works.

Winners of the four-year scholarships are R. Andrew Harper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Harper, 2401 Post Oak, Rockdale, and Elizabeth Anne Shelander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Shelander, 1006 East 14th, Cameron. Harper's father is a project engineer while Miss Shelander's father is a crane operator in Alcoa's smelting plant.

Harper, a member of Who's Who among American High School Students, honor roll student and all-district band member, will major in science at Baylor University.

Shelander, a member of the National Honor Society, Future Teachers, all-district band and year book co-editor, will major in advertising art at North Texas State University.

Scholarship winners were selected from 56 applicants representing 15 area high schools who took the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) administered by the College Entrance Examination last fall. In addition to test scores, the local Alcoa Foundation selection board received credentials of each candidate, considering such factors as scholastic achievement and extra curricular activities.

According to Dr. Walter Vincent, superintendent of Rockdale Independent School District and chairman of the selection board, candidates had to be in the upper half of their class or have a C-plus grade average or better at the time of application.

The selection board, made up of Vincent and seven other school superintendents, also named two alternates out of the 12 finalists for the scholarships.

First alternate is Belinda G. Speer of Leon High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benton Speer, Route 1, Marquez. Second runnerup is Rockdale High's Jeanne-Anne Larkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Larkin, Route 1, Rockdale. Speer is a retired pipefitter and Larkin is a brickmason at Alcoa's Central Texas plant.

The eight remaining finalists are Tommy Coker of Caldwell; Allen Kiesling of Thorndale; Linda Levien, Melissa Ludwig and Daphne Smith of Rockdale; Glen Rummel and Sarah White of Cameron and Renee Scott of Taylor.

Harper and Shelander became the 33rd and 34th scholarship winners at Rockdale Works under the Alcoa Foundation program founded in 1953.

Joining Vincent on the local 1975-76 selection board were superintendents Buddy Dulin, Cameron; Charlie Martin, Milano; Joe Scrivner, Taylor, A. K. McCown, Thrall; Jack Faulds, Caldwell; A. P. Kleinschmidt, Lexington; and B. C. Sims, Thorndale.

Will Voter Interest Survive?

Ronald Reagan Tuesday won the sixth Republican primary in North Carolina 52 percent to Gerald Ford's 46 percent and 2 percent for the cat.

It was an upset, but in a state largely conservative, Democrat or Republican.

Jimmy Carter won about 54 percent of the Democrat primary vote there, George Wallace trailing at 35 percent. The Wallace candidacy, down twice in the South, never was a real presidential hope, but a king-making possibility. He is left with neither option.

Twenty-four state primaries remain, including important ones in Texas, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and New York. Texas is the only state which is likely to support Reagan to another precipice of upset.

It was the first time an incumbent has been defeated by a party challenger in a primary. President Ford is also the first incumbent to succeed a predecessor who resigned. So the "firsts" of this election will continue.

Carter is gaining momentum, but in his part of the country. Jackson got a 4 percent write-in vote without asking for it. Which suggests the conservative side of the Democratic ballot is attractive to North Carolinians.

The Ford wins in Florida, Illinois and New Hampshire, among his five of the six, have to be considered more meaningful. In North Carolina, Reagan apparently reversed his Florida experience and closed hard on television the last two days. The President was only in the state two days, anticipating a marginal win.

The South likes principle, the Reagan challenges to Ford-Kissinger detente.

It would seem the South is generating a new spokesman for the national Democratic ticket, the non-dogmatic Georgian who is at vice-presidential level and charging north and west for the real tests ahead.

We are beginning to sense a glut in the primary market: Will voter interest survive?

A 'Who?' Alert By August?...

One response to critics of detente came Monday in Dallas when Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said the U. S. will not tolerate any more Cuban ploys like Angola.

Kissinger left no doubt the response to any other Castro adventures would be material and direct. This assurance comes in light of Angolan takeover in Africa and sensitive, queasy negotiations between the U. S. and Panama over the future status of the Panama Canal.

The State Department in effect put public statements on Canal Zone negotiations under wraps late last week. The President said in the White House that negotiations would protect the national interest in Panama as well as conditions there during the Johnson and Nixon Administrations.

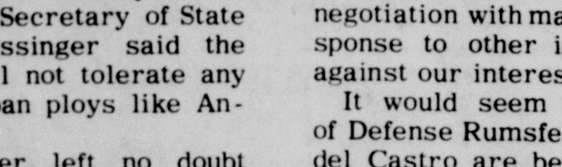

Dr. Kissinger left little doubt in his Dallas address the time is here to balance negotiation with material response to other incursions against our interests.

It would seem Secretary of Defense Rumsfeld and Fidel Castro are being heard beyond the reports of Middle East diplomatic successes. And perhaps Ronald Reagan's unexpected primary win in North Carolina is equally penetrating.

Dr. Kissinger is moving right from Russian detente even while Russian support is pulled from Egypt. Mainland China, the third of the three-point plane, apparently applauds.

We are uncertain about "the who," but somebody, some pawn somewhere amidst Moscow, Peking and Washington may create a U. S. military alert by late August.

PREVENT BROKEN HEARTS

USE YOUR SEAT BELT

QUIET, FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AT WORK!

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

It is generally admitted that a feeling of distrust, if not disgust, toward government has spread across the land.

It's not just the result of Watergate, which revealed that skullduggery and criminality had reached the top, but is also the result of a widespread and growing feeling that too many politicians fit the description recently given one: "He's just an average, chuckle-headed Congressman trying to improve his net worth."

Too many politicians accept illegal contributions, and if they didn't their campaign managers, some of whom are now in jail, did. Too many politicians use their influence to help themselves or their friends or brothers-in-law financially. Even if you're the President with an image of honesty and decency and select a campaign manager, you never know what you're getting.

Now this all amounts to a grave problem and everybody should be thinking about what we can do to restore trust and confidence in government, from the state legislature in Austin to Washington. What we can do about foreign policy will have to wait till later, along with television programs, high utility rates, and the postal service.

Therefore I have given considerable thought to the big problem and have concluded that we'll never have decency in government till the newspapers stop investigating politicians.

It's this constant digging, this turning up of unsavory doings by government officials, however embarrassingly true, that's destroying the people's confidence in government.

Don't the newspaper and television reporters know that practically none of us can stand a real close scrutiny? That if you dig long enough, hard enough and far back enough you'll find something?

The solution to the problem is to limit reporters to investigating no more than 10 percent of the people at any given time. That gives the rest of us 90 percent chance of not being found out.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Judicial Races Attracting Interest

Three major statewide judicial races on the May 1 Democratic primary ballot are attracting widespread interest among attorneys, although the general public remains largely unaware.

Resignation of veteran Judge W.A. Morrison from the court of Criminal Appeals effective March 31 created the third contest. The filing deadline will be reopened to permit candidates to get their names on the ballot. Gov. Dolph Briscoe has authority to fill the vacancy until the November general election.

In the other judicial races, Fourth Court of Civil Appeals Chief Justice Charles W. Barrow, 54, of San Antonio and Houston attorney Donald B. Yarbrough, 34, are contesting for a Texas Supreme Court seat being vacated.

Barrow outpolled Yarbrough 10,086 to 1,741 in a sampling of lawyer opinion through the State Bar. Yarbrough said that was the "greatest compliment" he could receive.

Court of Criminal Appeals Judge Truman Roberts, 58, seeking his second term, is opposed by Dallas District Judge Jerome Chamberlain, 53.

Roberts topped Chamberlain in the Bar poll 8,894 to 2,751. Chamberlain has been criticizing Roberts' opinions as over-technical. Roberts says he follows the law strictly.

Allowable Set

For the 49th straight month, the Railroad Commission set the statewide oil allowable at 100 per cent.

Exceptions include the East Texas Field (86 per cent).

Buyers asked more than 3.9 million barrels a day, a slight decrease of 2,174 from March.

Toll Rises

The 1975 traffic death toll in Texas rose 13 per cent, according to the Department of Public Safety.

At that, the number of deaths were 263 below the all-time-record year, 1973.

Voluntary compliance with the 55 miles per hour speed limit is not as good as it should be, but traffic continues to move slower than under the old 70 mph limit, according to DPS Director Wilson E. Speir.

The death toll last year was 3,429, compared to 2,945 in 1974 and 3,692 in 1973.

Unemployment Up

Texas unemployment increased by more than 7,000 during January, Texas Employment Commission reported.

TEC said 305,500 were seeking work, compared with 298,200 in December.

The jobless rate went up from 5.6 per cent to 5.8 per cent of the labor force. The total number employed dropped from 5,042,900 in December to 4,976,400 in January.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court agreed to hear arguments in a former Texas Tech football player's suit claiming the school should be liable for his knee injury since trainers didn't tape the knee properly.

The high court also upheld suspension of a Fort Worth dentist for publishing a booklet supporting nutritional supplements as a cancer cure.

Supreme Court justices upheld an order the Dallas Civil Service Board must consider charges against police officers in a beating and shooting death.

A divided Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a life sentence burglary conviction of an Abilene man, noting the lumber shed he was accused of entering was not an enclosed structure.

A San Antonio man sentenced to 15 years for manslaughter in the death of a two-year-old stepdaughter lost his appeal.

The Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial for a Hidalgo County man convicted of violating probation terms due to an illegal search for weapons.

Another new trial was ordered in a Jefferson County case of probation revocation involving injection of a prescription drug.

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen. John Hill told The University of Texas it cannot withhold records of the UT Division of Extension on grounds they are part of a continuing internal investigation.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A court can grant an occupational drivers' license after drunk driving convictions only where it does not impose imprisonment.

Written applications are required for emergency admission of mental patients to state hospitals.

Appointments

Gov. Dolph Briscoe named Glen E. Roney of McAllen to succeed W.E. Tinsley of Austin on Texas Water Development Board.

The governor picked Knute Dietze of Victoria as criminal district attorney for Victoria County.

He designated Joe LaMantia of McAllen chairman of the Criminal Justice Division Advisory Board and T.L. Roach Jr. of Amarillo as vice-chairman.

Eastland Court of Civil Appeals Chief Justice Esco Walter and District Judge Darrell Hester of Harlingen were appointed to the Judicial Qualifications Commission.

Short Snorts

Texas oil and gas wells produced 8,051,979,641 mcf of gas in 1975, down from 8,907,428,815 mcf in 1974.

Forty-two Texans have received death penalty convictions since 1973.

The Railroad Commission ordered plugging of three wells in a far West Texas oil field to protect the water supply.

The Supreme Court has been asked to mandamus the Railroad Commission to set a permanent gas rate for Lo-Vaca Gathering Company customers.

Comptroller Bob Bullock said his auditors uncovered $5.5 million in additional tax revenues owed the state last month.

School district taxable property values are expected to exceed $150 million, according to the governor's education resources office.

Governor Briscoe has been campaigning for Democratic candidates in Houston area special runoff election April 3.

VA Reminds Veterans Of Benefits Due

Veterans recently separated from military service are encouraged by the Veterans Administration to check the time table on veterans' benefits.

Upon notification by the Department of Defense that service members have terminated active duty under conditions other than dishonorable, the VA sends the new veteran a summary of key benefits with time periods in which application must be made.

Separate communications provide the veteran with GI Loan Certificates of Eligibility for homes, condominiums, and mobile homes and information on insurance and educational programs.

The veteran is urged to contact the nearest VA office or representative of veterans' service organizations for complete application procedures.

How to save electricity with refrigerator-freezers

1. Defrost regularly. More than ¼" of frost will act as insulation and causes your refrigerator/freezer to work harder to maintain a proper temperature. Replace worn door gaskets to prevent cold air loss.
2. Keep refrigerator temperature setting between 35° and 40° — freezer setting at 0°. (Use thermometer to check.)
3. Adjust temperature up 2° or 3° if you'll be away several days.
4. Don't leave door open unnecessarily. Close quickly.
5. Avoid overcrowding. It restricts cold air flow around food and overworks unit.
6. Cover all liquids placed in frost-free units. (Moisture causes frost and needless defrosting.)
7. Keep condenser coils on back and bottom of your refrigerator/freezer free of dust for more efficient operation.
8. Cook double recipes and freeze half for future use.

Conserve electricity and you help conserve one or more of the fuels needed to produce it: natural gas, coal and oil. Conserve fuels and you help assure that there will be enough to meet essential needs for electricity in the future.

When you pass a TP&L office, warehouse, generating plant or other facility, you'll see that we've turned off all non-essential lighting. And, in as many other ways as possible, TP&L is reducing its own uses of electricity.

CB Radios Now Require Separate Insurance

No where is the fad more popular than in Texas where an estimated 206,000 CB operators chatter away on the 23 channels authorized by the Federal Communications Commission for citizens broadcasts.

As the popularity of the CB radio has increased, there has been a corresponding increase in theft of CB equipment.

During 1975, more than half a million dollars worth of CB radios were stolen in Dallas alone, and during one seven-month period there were 1,638 reported CB thefts

Houston law enforcement officials say they average 20 to 30 reports of stolen CBs each day. In Corpus Christi the number of reports of CBthefts jumped dramatically when a local car dealer started advertising that we would give away free CB radios with the purchase of a new car.

Apparently no one is exempt. A Fort Worth Assistant District Attorney had his CB radio stolen, as did the mayor pro tem of San Antonio, Secretary of State Mark White, and Texas Insurance Commissioner Joe Hawkins.

The problem became so severe late last year that the State Board of Insurance excluded CB radios from the standard comprehensive coverage portion of an automobile policy. (This exclusion also applies to two-way mobile radios or telephones, including accessories, equipment, and antennas.)

If CBs had been left under that coverage, "there is no telling what it would have done to comprehensive rates," a board official recently told members of the Texas House Insurance Committee. "We may have saved a major comprehensive rate increase," he said.

While some CB owners object to having to pay additional premiums, insurance industry representatives say it is not right for the non-CB owner to face higher rates because of the CB boom.

The new ruling, which applies only to policies sold after January 1, means that unless the vehicle owner purchases coverage specifically for his CB, it will not be protected on his insurance policy.

Equipment valued up to $750 may be insured for $17 per year. For $751-$1,500 in coverage, it would cost $27. For equipment worth more than $1,500 it is $53. Rates are set by the State Board of Insurance, which will review them periodcially when there is additional statistical evidence.

These coverages may also be purchased under a different line of insurance, though the rates are generally higher.

Guard Seeks Members Eligible For Back Pay

The Texas Guard is still trying to locate former Guardsmen it owes back pay to.

The back-pay windfall is due to everyone who was in the active military, reserve forces, or the National Guard during 1972. And the Texas Guard is still looking for its former members who have not claimed their back pay.

The one-shot back pay due stems from a 1974 ruling by the U. S. Courts of Appeals that a government pay raise scheduled for October, 1972 was illegally delayed. The difference between a persons pay between October, 1972 and January 1, 1973 when the pay raise went into effect, had to be paid.

The Texas National Guard has been trying to contact former Guardsmen due this money and processed a number of payments for current and former Guardsmen. But a number of Texans have never made a claim for the money due them. The Texas Guard is still looking for those former Guardsmen.

Persons who were in the Guard or Army Reserves or on active duty during that period and remain in that status today have automatically received the difference in pay due them.

Others who have moved from active duty to the Reserves or from one Reserve component to another must request the payment. Reservists who have separated or retired since October 1, 1972 are also eligible for the back pay.

Former Guardsmen and reservists who wish to claim their money should write to their former unit. Guardsmen who cannot remember their old units address should write to the Texas Adjutant General's Department, Attention: Comptroller, PO Box 5218, Austin, TX 78763.

The letter should include full name, Social Security number, rank, current mailing address, date separated, and the duty station from October through December 1972.

SORGHUM LEADERS NAMED--John A. Smith of Cameron, right, was re-elected to the executive committee of Grain Sorghum Producers Association at the recent annual meeting of the national commodity organization. Smith, a Milam County native, raises grain sorghum, cotton, and oats.

North Texas Farmer Receives Hero Award

A young North Texas farmer who foiled a bank robbery and helped capture the robbers has been given an award in recognition of his heroism.

Jerry Don Wood, 30, who farms in Hunt and Collin Counties was given the Rural Hero of the Year award Monday by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, at the 37th annual meeting of the Texas Safety Association in Dallas.

Millard Shivers, director of rural development for Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Texas and chairman of the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council's Rural Heroism Committee, presented a plaque to Wood. Wood was nominated for the honor by Chuck Cook, publisher of The Caddo Mills Mirror newspaper.

Wood was leaving the State National Bank of Caddo Mills on the morning of Sept. 17, 1975 when he noticed two men entering the bank and saw they were wearing surgical gloves. As he looked back at the two, he saw them put on ski masks.

The young farmer ran to a nearby office and had a secretary call the sheriff's office in Greenville, 12 miles away. He then alerted other citizens. As the robbers fled, with the bank president's daughter as a hostage, they fired a shot at Wood. Another citizen shot out tire of the getaway car.

Wood jumped into the back of a pickup driven by another citizens, and chased the robbers. Realizing they were in trouble, the robbers dumped their hostage a short distance from town. During the chase another vehicle tried to force Wood to stop the chase.

The driver identified himself as police officer. But, the chase was continued and the robbers were forced to abandon their vehicle. As the robbers started to run across an open field, Wood fired a warning shot at their feet. They immediately surrendered.

The man who earlier said he was a police officer turned out to be one of the group involved in the robbery, and on Wood's tip, he was arrested. The man turned out to be a former law officer. In all, four former lawmen were charged, and seven bank robberies were cleared.

Egg Clinic Set For March 31

How to improve the image of eggs will be one of the topics discussed at the 21st annual Texas Commercial Egg Clinic March 31 at the Ramada Inn here.

Dr. Fred Thornberry, poultry specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says speakers at the clinic will talk about everything from high-rise hen housing to maintaining egg shell quality to improving feed and income efficiency.

Other discussions will center around ventilation of hen housing, nusiance laws and legal problems, layer nutrition, and replacement pullet management.

Levels Set For Grain Insects

Grain sorghum producers should be aware that there are new threshold levels for insect damage on grain sorghum. These new levels indicate how much insect damage your grain can withstand before yield loss will occur.

Greenbugs: The extent of greenbug damage in grain sorghum is dependent upon greenbug numbers, plant size, vigor and stage of growth, moisture conditions and the presence or absence of parasites and predators which effectively destroy greenbugs.

Plant size and when to treat: Emergence to about 6 inches---visible damage with colonies of greenbugs on plants.

Larger to pre-boot--before any entire leaves are killed.

Pre-boot to hard-dough--when greenbug damage is sufficient to cause death of two normal sized leaves.

Consider beneficial insects, however. A general rule of thumb applies--when 20% of aphids are parasitized (swollen mummies) the greenbug population should collapse in approximately one week.

Sorghum midge: The sorghum midge is most effectively controlled by early and uniform planting in the community.

The sorghum midge damage grain sorghum only when the sorghum is blooming. Carefully inspect fields daily for adult midge, beginning when heads first start to bloom at the tip. Apply treatments when 20% of the heads have begun to bloom and the adult midge average one per head. If adults are still active 3 to 5 days later, immediately apply a second treatment.

Systemic insecticides are of no value for controlling the sorghum midge.

SAFETY CORNER

Mixing is a most hazardous part of using chemicals. You are a "Master Mixer" when you have recently studied the label, understand all instructions, and wear rubber gloves, eye protection, respirator and other protective clothing described on the label. You handle carefully, measure accurately, are a good housekeeper, and immediately wash off a splash of chemical with soap and water. With chemicals you are never casual.

It is said that the first public library was founded in Athens in 540 B.C.

County Agent's Notes

Frost Damage Light, Garden Plants Bitten

By Bill McCutchen
Milam County Extension Ag.

Frost damage was not severe on the grain sorghum or corn but it did bite some tender garden plants last week.

Grain sorghum has been stressed somewhat due to cold but should come on well with warm temperatures. Some replanting may be necessary where the crop was planted deep before the rains and then heavy rains were received. Most sorghum is up to a good stand and a good start.

I know first hand that some garden plants were nipped by the frost as my potatoes were scorched pretty good. It didn't bother my tomatoes however as they were hardened before I set them out.

I also don't expect much fruit damage from that spell as it usually takes 28 degrees weather to kill fruit.

CATTLE SHORT COURSE

The 26th Annual Beef Cattle Short Course will be held at the Rudder Center at Texas A&M University, April 8 and 9. Besides the general session on "Environmental Management and the Private Land Owner," five other short courses are scheduled during the two-day conference.

On April 8, Dr. Ernest E. Davis, Extension livestock marketing specialist, will discuss "Emerging Trends and Marketing Opportunities," including future factors which will influence economical production and marketing of beef cattle.

A serious problem facing cattlemen with dry and declining range conditions is internal parasites in livestock. Dr. Ray Carroll, a practicing veterinarian at Corsicana, will discuss "Prevention and Control of Internal Parasites."

Dr. Allen Rider, Extension agricultural engineer at Oklahoma State University, will be on the Dairy Program and discuss "Cost, Capacity and Management of Forage Harvesting, Handling, and Storage Systems. ing, and Storage Systems." Livestockmen handling large amounts of hay will want to attend this presentation, as well as Dr. Monte Rouquette's talk on "Nutritional Considerations In Large Package Haying Systems." Rouquette, a forage physiologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Overton, will summarize available research concerning variations in feeding value of hay stored in large package systems.

Many products on the market today claim to improve feed utilization, overall health or productive function in cattle. Dr. W. C. Ellis, animal nutritionist with the Experiment Station and professor of Animal Science at A&M, will discuss "rumen Digestive Stimulants - Facts and Fiction."

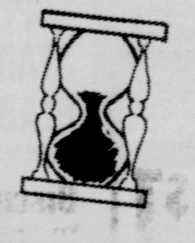

Liquid supplements offer the rancher the convenience of mechanical handling and self - feeding, but in many cases animal production has not equaled that obtained from natural protein supplements. Results of liquid supplement research at Texas A&M will be discussed by Dr. Larry Boleman, of Bryan, Extension area beef cattle specialist.

If you're planning a trip to the museum, remember that

Salvation Army Sends Aid To Guatemala

Texans are continuing to respond generously to Guatemalans devastated by the earthquake which hit their country Feb. 6. Throughout March, money and in kind gifts were donated to the Salvation Army for use in the Central American country.

Lt. Col. Guy Helper, Texas divisional commander, said, Col. Paul Thronburg, former Texas divisional commander, was called from retirement to help coordinate disaster activities for Guatemala from Atlanta, Ga., southern territorial headquarters.

Hepler remarked, "This has turned into such a massive project, that extra help is needed. Officers working at the scene say this is the worst disaster they have ever seen."

Good s shipped from the Texas Division included: one gas powered water purifier with spare parts and filters, 365 blankets, 10 cases of hot cups, 175 folding cots, three cases of assorted medicine, 327 air mattresses, 7,200 pounds of dry milk, 10,000 pounds of rice, 347 cases assorted food and medicine ( from Okalahoma City), and 3,783 pounds of clothing, food, and bedding (from the Jacksonville Service Unit.)

American Airlines and Delta donated time and space to ship many tons of goods free to Guatemala from the Salvation Army, which has designed to receive in kind gifts by the Guatemalan embassy.

Additionally, over $25,000 was collected in Texas, Hepler reported.

Assigned by the Guatemalan government to work in Tecpan, an area 99 percent destroyed by the quake, the Salvation Army began work immediately to help construct new homes for Guatemalans before the June rainy season.

First Scout Troops Still Thriving

About one out of every hundred Boy Scout troops chartered during the year of Scouting's birth in America are still alive and well, according to M. W. Kasmiroski, vice-president for Scouting of the Heart O' Texas Council.

Today, Kasmiroski said there are 65,000 Scout troops, with 1,5 million boys and well over a half-million adult volunteer leaders. There are, in addition, now nearly 2 million Cub Scouts in 60,000 packs and over 660,000 pack leaders in Scouting's program for younger boys ( 8-10)--a program introduced formally in 1930, and another 430,000 young men and women and adult volunteers are now associated with Exploring.

Raw Meat Still On Menu For Typical Norseman

By Uli Schmetzer

REYKJAVIK

Reuter - A thousand years ago the Vikings ate raw meat, served on a wooden board, from the point of a knife.

Today the Icelanders, who speak Norse, the language of their Viking ancestors, still eat raw meat from a similar rough board, -- but at the end of a fork.

A typical raw meat orgy in an elegant restaurant with plush carpets, soft music and liveried waiters is a rare culinary experience. It adds to the treat if an Icelandic host describes the various meat morsels stacked around a baleful looking sheep's head on the board.

Your host might ask you to start with "bound intestines," while he makes straight for the smoked sheep's head.

He might also suggest Iceland's foremost delicacy, ram's testicles.

The Vikings ate these in recognition of the animal's potency. Neatly sliced into round pieces and made succulently tender in vinegar, the dish is washed down with Brennivin (burned liquor), a national drink that tastes of aniseed.

While you are struggling to cut it into strips, your host leans foward conspiratorially: "The sharks we catch are about 20 feet (six meters) long. Before we eat it, the whole shark is buried on the beach for three months to allow the poisonous acids to evaporate. It's safe now. Don't worry."

Also on the board is raw whale blubber seasoned in vinegar. It tastes like an oily lollipop.

By then your host has put down the sheep's head -- or what is left of it, a serrated row of tiny teeth.

Just before you pick up the crisp brittle wisps of dried cod he points out that this is "The contenders line up and make gluttons of themselves. There are prodigious feats that might have made the old Vikings proud of their descendants.

"Dried cod is the most expensive dish," the host says. "It costs about $10 a pound but it's protein - rich and dehydrated band keeps forever."

By then you might have got round the the sheep's hooves and other more widely-known dishes like smoked mutton, liver sausage and fatty boiled joints.

All the time you are being urged to wash down the food with Brennivin. At the end of the meal, you might get coffee made from boiling geyser water which retains a tang of sulphur.

The meal is called Thorra Matur in Norse, which means "food eaten in the Month of the Heathen."

By FORREST GUESS

GYM OR GEM. . .

The renovation of the Yoe High gymnasium is nearly complete according to Cameron Independent School District Superintendent Buddy Dulin.

The actual cost of the project is running somewhat below the estimate of the cheapest contractor that levied bids earlier in the school year.

The project is running somewhere in the neighborhood of 80,000 dollars. The lowest contracted bid was $140,000 plus. This means a saving to the school district of some 60,000 dollars.

The gym facelifting includes the following improvements:

1. Complete painting of the entire building.
2. Complete snack-bar facilities.
3. Restrooms for the public.
4. Tile for the showers on both girls and boys sides.
5. Carpet in the dressing rooms.
6. Flooring for the entrance and hallways. Flooring for classrooms.
7. Science facilities. Running water, gas and indivi-dual work benches for students involved in experiments.
8. State approved storage for chemicals.
9. Air-conditioning of the science complex.
10. Remodeling of coachs' office.

The list continues with the sandblasting of the outside of the building. It also includes the underpinning of the bleachers. The list should include the word, "SAVINGS", as well.

Superintendent Dulin acted as the over-seer of the project and as the contractor.

A personal inspection of the gym would lead one to believe that the facelifting would benefit other buildings in the school district.

A superior job of renovation has proved that the district is on the right step in bringing the facilities of the system up-to-date.

TRACK. . .

The Yoe tracksters had an impressive showing at the College Station Relays last Saturday. The Relays included all 4-A and 3-A teams participating for the medals.

The meet also provided college competition. The Yoe thinclads did show a mark improvement over their times just one year ago at the same meet.

Coach Nelson Huffman was happy with the over-all performance of his runners and said, "Robert Miller broke a school record in the 220 yard dash with a 22.0 time and he placed third showing just how tough the competition was."

One must improve his skills with tough competition. The Yoe tracksters were able to see just what classification of the school can do for a track program.

Texans Receive Island Park

GALVESTON

This year Texans received a gift with something in it to please just about everyone. February 14 was the day of the dedication and ribbon cutting at Galveston Island State Park, a recreation package of unique variety and beauty.

Galveston Island itself has long been a magnet to tourists; the state park, consisting of 1,900 acres and 1.6 miles of Gulf beach, is sure to attract large numbers of them. The location, only 12 miles west of Galveston is highly accessible by a network of interstate highways.

This is an ideal spot, among the sand dunes and sea breezes, for both people and wildlife. The state acquired the area , the former Maco Stewart Ranch, in the late 1960s and much study and planning has gone into the formation of a park tha would preserve the environment and fauna while giving visitor s full opportunity to enjoy them.

One of the great attractions of the park will be the 1,700 seat amphitheater being built by the Lone Star Historical Drama Association with approval of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. The organization will present an outdoor historical drama similar to the one in Pala Duro Canyon State Park, depicting the early settlement of Texas and its struggle for independence. Major characters will be Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin and the entertainment will include music, dancing, and acting.

Design of the theater is in keeping with the natural setting and the facility will be used for other civic events during the off-drama season. It is being constructed with private funds and will become theproperty of the state on completion. Target date for the opening is late August, as a salute to the nation's Bicentennial.

Local history of this vicinity was turbulent. The earliest record relates the shipwreck of Spanish sailor Cabeza de Vaco in 1528. He and other survivors had to contend with fierce, primitive bands of Karankawa Indians who occasionally camped and hunted on the island. In 1685 the French explorer La Salle included the area in his expeditions.

From the early part of the 20th century through the two world wars, Galveston was part of the Texas coastal defensive system and a center for artillery training. Today, Galveston Island is a major port and resort area.

FIRST BATTLE COMPUTER

The world's first practical computer may have been invented by the Scots.

Not far from Balmoral Castle, Queen Elizabeth's home in Scotland, stands a pile of rocks that for hundreds of years was the rallying point of the Farquharson Clan when they were going into battle.

As they met, each Farquharson warrior brought a stone with him, and each added his stone to the heap. After the fighting was over, each surviving Farquharson returned and took a stone away from the heap.

The scene from the Hill. It's up to him to inform the rest of us, and in these complicated times, that isn't easy. But his job is communication, to get the facts, to give them to us straight.

He represents a Freedom ... one of those precious gifts guaranteed to us under our Constitution. The Church represents another Freedom.

These Freedoms, and the word itself, have special meaning just now when we're celebrating our Bicentennial. Let's not lose sight of them.

It's a birthday present we owe ourselves.

Grain Inspection Bill Approved

The House Agriculture Committee has approved by a 32 to 5 vote a grain inspection bill (H.R. 12572) introduced by Chairman Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., with 21 other Congressmen as cosponsors.

Spurred by grain insepction scandals uncovered at New Orleans and other ports, the Committee after extensive public hearings and investigation drafted legislation which it hopes will put an end to such irregularities in the future and restore full confidence of foreign buyers purchasing American grains.

Primary feature of the new legislation is the provision for federal inspection of grain at all export port terminals. The actual inspection may be done either by U.S. Department of Agriculture personnel or state agencies through delegation of authority by the Secretary of Agriculture. The State agencies would have to enforce inspection standards precisely like those administered by federal personnel and would be subject to continuing oversight by the federal government. The Secretary is given the authority to withdraw this delegation of authority at any time, at his discretion, and without public hearing.

Henderson Announces For County-District Attorney

PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT OF CANDIDACY OF JOHN B. HENDERSON, JR. FOR THE OFFICE OF COUNTY-DISTRICT ATTORNEY OF MILAM COUNTY:

I have filed as a candidate in the Democratic Primary election to be held on May 1 for the office of County-District Attorney of Milam County. The vote and support of each eligible voter is earnestly solicited by means of this announcement. I hope that all registered voters will go to the polls and vote on May 1 and I urge them to do so.

I am 42 years old, married, and the father of three children. I have been a practicing attorney in Milam County for the past 15 years, including 9 years as County-District Attorney from June of 1963 to August of 1972.

I served as City Judge of Cameron for 2 1/2 years; was elected to the School Board of the Cameron Independent School District where I served for 3 years; am a past President of the Cameron Noon Lions Club; past President of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce; a member of the First United Methodist Church of Cameron where I am now serving as a member of the Administrative Board, Finance Chairman and Sunday School Teacher; I am a past Chairman of the Administrative Board of the Methodist Church; past Master of San Andres Lodge #170 and served in the United States Navy for 2 years including a tour of duty as the Supply Officer on a destroyer.

I think I did a good job as your prosecutor when I served you before and I would like the opportunity to do so again. This is an important office in our County and deserves vigorous and efficient prosecution in all the courts of Milam County.

If you elect me to the office of County-District Attorney I would like to work with the people of Milam County to accomplish the following:

1. I will be available and will listen to and cooperate with those persons who have a legitimate complaint concerning a violation of the criminal laws of our State.

2. I will be readily available to our law enforcement officers and will receive and properly process the cases which they bring to me.

3. I will properly investigate and handle and prosecute all criminal cases, assault, and hot checks which are filed in the County Court, including jury trials as they are necessary.

4. I will perform the County Attorney's duties with respect to dependent and neglected children and the handing of juvenile cases.

5. I will assist the several Justices of the Peace of the County and prosecute those cases which require prosecution in their Courts.

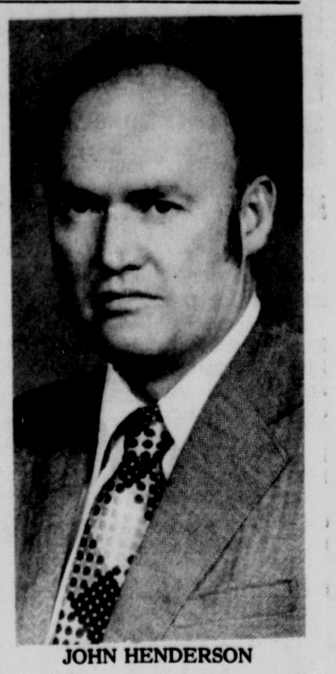

6. I will thoroughly prepare and present all cases which come before the Milam County Grand Jury. The Officers and others witnesses involved will be notified to appear and we will not waste the Grand Jurors' time.

7. I will prosecute--and if necessary, try to a jury --all felony cases in the District Court after indictments are returned by the Grand Jury.

8. I will furnish to the News Media a report of the dispostion of each felony case and each serious misdemeanor case promptly after trial. The people of this County will be kept informed through the Media through annual reports of Court activity in criminal cases in both the County Court and the District Court.

I sincerely solicit and would appreciate your vote and support in the primary election on May 1 of the Democratic Party. Let's work together to return law enforcement to it's rightful place in Milam County.

MOM'S ROOM is more than just a laundry area. It also serves as a hobby area for sewing, gardening and other crafts and hobbies.

'Mom's rooms' as varied as mothers' interests

With the exception of preparing meals, laundry can take more of a homemaker's time than any other single task around the house.

To make the laundry area as pleasant as possible, designers are suggesting that it be conducive to other activities also, such as sewing, potting, painting or whatever crafts or hobbies match the homemaker's needs. They've dubbed it the "Mom's Room."

For homemakers with small children, the "Mom's Room" can even include a small play area where children can occupy themselves within watching distance, but out from underfoot.

What constitutes a perfect "Mom's Room" depends on mother's hobbies. But no matter what those hobbies may be, the laundry equipment will determine in part how much time mom will have to pursue her favorite hobby.

The Dispensall™ automatic washer from General Electric, for instance, lets the homemaker add all the additives at one time. She simply pours undiluted bleach, fabric softener, detergent and pre-soak into the loading areas of the washer lid, selects the water temperature and level and wash/rinse cycle and starts the machine. From then on the machine requires no attention at all until the clothes are ready to be put in the dryer.

Large-capacity, automatically controlled dryers can help reduce laundry fussing, too. With GE's Automatic Electronic Control dryers, there is no guess-work in setting a timer or running back to the dryer to feel the clothes to determine if they're dry.

A solid-state electronic sensor continually feels and measures moisture in the tumbling clothes, determines when they are properly dried to your preselected conditioners, and turns off automatically.

Periodic inspections can help prevent leaky roofs

Your roof's not likely to leak if it's less than 15 years old and was applied properly. But you'd better be ready for trouble if it's older than that, especially if you live in very sunny climes.

The sun's heat does more damage to your roof, over the years, than wind and rain combined. Such damage — unchecked — can lead to minor leaks. These eventually may result in damage to the interior of your home, as well as to structural damage from moisture build-up.

You can prevent roof failures by making periodic inspections of your roof, according to the experts at the Certainteed Home Institute, Valley Forge, Pa.

First, check for the appearance of the minute ceramic granules (normally on the surface of asphalt shingles) in the downspouts or other areas where water drains from the roof. These help protect your roof from the sun . . . but as the roof ages, they wash off.

Then, use binoculars to give you a bird's-eye view of what the roof looks like. Look for warped, cracked or missing shingles.

Whatever you do, don't walk on your roof even if you suspect trouble. It's too dangerous up there, especially since old shingles tend to break easily and can make footing treacherous. More than that, you may cause even greater injury to your roof by walking on it.

Once you've decided your roof needs attention, call a qualified roofing contractor. He'll help you evaluate the situation — giving you the benefit of his experience with repairing and replacing roofs in your area. Ask him to show you the wide color range of standard weight shingles (240 lb. per square) available.

There are also heavyweight materials available today which offer style, texture, and added durability. These carry a limited warranty of up to 25 years against manufacturer's defects and cost only slightly more per year than standard weight products when cost is figured over their life-expectancy.

For more information on roofing and re-roofing, send for the booklet "Everything You Ever Wanted to Know About Roofing, Siding and Residential Insulation," written by Mort Waters, editor of "Family Handyman" magazine. It's available for 25¢ from the Home Institute, Certainteed Products Corporation, Valley Forge, Pa. 19482. It'll give you more information than you ever wanted to know about your roof.

To help save on fuel bills

Finding the fountain of youth seems to hold more promise for today's homeowners than finding reduced fuel bills.

While Johns-Manville is not promising any fountains, their new Insulation Center located at the company headquarters in Denver, Colo., does promise quick and efficient service to homeowners and other building professionals seeking ways to conserve energy and reduce fuel bills.

If you wish expert advice on how, when and where to cut fuel costs, write: Johns-Manville Insulation Center, Drawer 17-L, Denver, Colo. 80217 or call the Center's action line: 303/770-1000, ext. 3111.

Designs for apartments are their departments

Most designers agree that working within the architectural limitations of the modern apartment building, and making older apartments reflect the needs and preferences of today's families is the major challenge they face at the present time.

Space-saving ideas were a feature of the new "Apartment Living" designer rooms at the American Mart in Chicago.

Each participating designer first envisioned who would be using his or her particular room and then sought to incorporate many uses into this one room because of size and space variables in both modern and older apartments.

Furniture and accessories for the rooms served as an inspiration when first approaching the interior design of these irregular-sized apartment rooms.

According to William Ishmael, A. S. I. D. designer, "Divergent styles are bound together by a bright colorful background and strong interior architecture."

Realizing the dining room is a luxury that may be missing in future apartments, Ishmael sought to make this room serve many uses with simple furniture that could be moved when the room serves other functions or combines as a library-study.

Textures in wall covering and draperies were considered important features in the over-all look by other designers as well as plants and accessories that add a touch of flair.

It's a banner year to fix up the home

A number of pressing realities make 1976 a banner year for home improvements. Families are traveling less, due to the skyrocketing costs of gasoline, motels, hotels and restaurants, and staying home more.

And that's where improving the home comes in.

Home-style vacations seem more desirable if houses can be remodeled to include such leisure-like amenities as patios, pools, outside cooking and seating areas.

As a result, wise homeowners are investing more than ever before in improving their properties with, as expected, attention to increasing their energy-saving potential. With heating costs soaring, better insulation, installation of storm doors and windows and even roofing are high on the homeowner's priority list.

Plans an advantage

It is to be remembered that home improvements properly planned and executed not only can produce substantial savings in heating and cooling costs, but also add value to the existing property. Thus there is a way for homeowners to cope with inflationary trends.

Advice and counsel is available at the local level from experts in planning and financing improvements.

According to Edgar V. Hall, executive vice president of the National Home Improvement Council, the investment in home improvements made last year by homeowners amounted to $23 billion. The Home Improvement Council has several thousand local councils operating in as many cities to assist people in their planning.

Easier money

Since loans for home improvements are easier to get than mortgages, people are staying put, making what they have stretch to suit their needs and many are doing all or at least some of the work themselves.

While money was tight and costly in 1975, there is every indication that it will be only costly in 1976.

Savings and Loan Associations have noted a dramatic change in availability of savings for home improvement loan purposes and are anxious to find homeowners to persuade them to make improvements on their homes.

Most people will either take out a separate home improvement loan or add the cost of the improvements to their mortgage.

Watch taxes

It is important to note that not all home improvements result in higher taxes. In many cases, sizeable improvements can be made without changing taxes at all.

Most tax increases result from improvements which add new living space, major additions, structural changes and repairs, or a new garage or patio.

Improvements

In many areas the homeowner can put on a new roof make any repairs to existing masonry, replace lighting and plumbing fixtures if they are not part of a complete modernization, paint the entire inside and outside, install lawn sprinkler systems, put in lawns and no-limit landscaping, make complete plaster repairs and redecorate, add closets, put in new ceilings, weather stripping, install a new driveway, add or replace gutters and downspouts, replace a worn-out furnace with a new heating system and restore or replace porches and steps — all without fear of a tax rise!

The National Home Improvement Council reminds the homeowner that even with a higher assessment and tax rise, home improvements result in increased value for their property and more comfortable living.

Windows and doors are the worst fuel drainers

Windows and doors are the biggest fuel drainers in the average home. And since 70 million living units use 20 per cent of all the energy consumed in the U.S., the homeowner holds a great deal of responsibility — which he can use to save or lose money, not to mention the conservation of the nation's energy supply.

According to the National Home Improvement Council, the University of Illinois has calculated that ten 15 square foot windows will leak about 100 more gallons worth of fuel oil per season if they are only single glazed.

With a typical three by five foot single glazed, double-hung window, almost three times the energy would be lost through the window as is lost around the sash area.

Storm doors help, too, because heat loss through or around the door is about the same.

One square foot of glass can lose as much heat as ten square feet of wall.

For these reasons, few installations in the home pay off for themselves as quickly as do storm doors and windows and replacement windows.

Current estimates are that in four to five years, the homeowner will recover the cost of his installation.

Literary designs for living

What do unused bedrooms, spare storage rooms and attics have in common? Each has the makings to become the library you always wanted.

Traditionally, the library is a room designed for the storage of books. It should be quiet enough for reading, homework or "contemplation." The atmosphere should be pleasant and relaxing.

Converting an unused room is the best bet. A single bed, with bolster cushions, can easily be converted into a sofa if you want one. Shelves along the walls are easy to install for all the books. Carpeting provides a restful feeling.

It's a perfect hide-a-way, and right in your own home too.

Save money, save energy—invest in air

Would you believe that you can cut down on your annual heating and cooling bills just by trapping something as commonplace as the a .round us?

It's true — according to the energy experts at the Home Institute, Certain-teed Products Corporation, Valley Forge, Pa. You do it by capturing air inside six-inch thick batts of fiber glass insulation which you lay on the attic floor between the joists.

Fiber glass insulation has millions of tiny air pockets per inch, each becoming an insulator in its own right. The cumulative effectiveness of all of this air creates a barrier against exterior weather conditions, so that heat flow through the insulation is virtually eliminated.

The transfer of heat through any material, such as fiber glass insulation, is designated by an "R"-Value. The higher the R-value, the better the material is as an insulator.

For minimum energy savings you should have enough insulation in the attic to produce an R-19 rating. You can achieve that rating with six inches of fiber glass batt insulation or over eight inches of loose fill insulation.

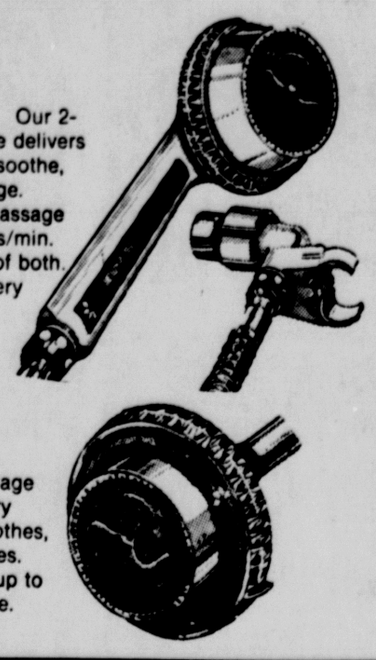

R-values are cumulative — so adding an R-19 batt to three and one half inches (R-11) of insulation already in the attic will give you a rating of R-30. The additional insulation will help pay for itself in energy savings in about three years in most areas.

For more information on energy savings attributed to insulation write for the Old Farmer's Almanac Home Insulation Guide. It's free from the Certain-teed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, Pa. 19482.
